

Laila Hlimi

I am Laila Hlimi, Student at Al Akhawayn University with a Bachelor of Arts and communication, minor computer science and currently preparing an MBA in Marketing, BUT MOST OF ALL, I am the Resident assistant of building 27.

This is a building where you get to make friendships with your neighbors, and spend crazy time with them through the different activities organized within the building. This is a building where you have a voice. This is a building where you can make a change by inputting your creative ideas. This is a building where there is always someone to cheer you up when you feel down, and share your happiness when you feel like it; someone to guide you, and to share crazy moments; someone to advise, and support you. And guess what, that someone is me.
